Family sitcom 'Man With a Plan' returns for a third season

By Joy Doonan
TV Media

Starting in 2006, Matt LeBlanc took a five-year hiatus from acting on television. This was not long after one of the most popular '90s sitcoms ended its 10-year run. "Friends" had made LeBlanc a household name, and his portrayal of the lovably doofy Joey Tribbiani had made him TV royalty, so his sudden departure seemed to leave a hole in the television landscape.

When he returned to the screen in 2011, he was starring in "Episodes," a meta comedy in which LeBlanc played a fictional version of himself. He also enjoyed a three-year stint hosting "Top Gear." These shows were a far cry from the type of role that first launched his career. It wasn't until 2016 that LeBlanc finally decided to return to his roots, and "Man With a Plan" has been a hit so far. The family sitcom is a throwback to the genre's golden days — the 1990s — and mimics the wholesome-but-dysfunctional family model of many of its predecessors. Still going strong, "Man With a Plan" is now returning for its third season. The premiere episode airs Monday, Feb. 4, on CBS.

Created by Jackie and Jeff Filgo and co-executive produced by LeBlanc, "Man With a Plan" follows the everyday life of LeBlanc's Adam Burns, an awkward, straight-edge suburban dad whose wife, Andi (Liza Snyder, "Yes, Dear"), decides to go back to work after 13 years of being a stay-at-home mom to their three kids. As a result, Adam has to pick up a greater share of the child care duties, and he begins to learn that his kids aren't as simple or innocent as he always thought they were.

Adam, a guy who seems to take very little seriously and would rather have a beer and read the paper than engage in the bureaucracies of his children's schooling, clumsily attempts to be the disciplinarian but eternally fails to win the respect of his scheming progeny. The upcoming season promises to feature more of the fan-favorite Marcy, Adam's overbearing sister-in-law, as the actress who plays her, Kali Rocha ("Liv and Maddie"), has been bumped up to cast regular. The show also stars Kevin Nealon ("Weeds") as Adam's immature brother, Don, with whom he runs a contracting business while juggling the difficulties of parenting. Matt Cook ("Clipped") provides even more flavor to the mixed bag of characters as Adam's contracting assistant and close friend, Lowell.

When asked why he was drawn to the concept of "Man With a Plan," LeBlanc has said that, being a father in real life, he wanted the opportunity to play the classic sitcom family man on TV. While the show is meant to emulate family comedy tropes of the past, one of LeBlanc's goals has also been to play with some contemporary parenting struggles. He told CBS Los Angeles that the biggest challenge of being a parent today is that kids are "harder to outsmart" than ever before as a result of the technology available to them. Much of the show's charm comes from the Burns kids — Kate (Grace Kaufman, "Bubble Guppies"), Emme (Hala Finley, "Back Roads," 2018) and Teddy (Matthew McCann, "All Stars," 2015) — constantly out-maneuvering their dad and causing never-ending chaos.

Co-stars LeBlanc and Snyder have shared a love of the energy on the set of "Man With a Plan" for the past two seasons, with Snyder telling CBS Boston that "we shouldn't be allowed to have this much fun at a job," and that the live audience makes for both a good time and an effective sounding board to see how well jokes are landing. The show has also become a nostalgic collaborative project as many of the crew members worked together on "Friends."

Revival of 'One Day at a Time' returns for a third season

NEW ON NETFLIX:

"One Day at a Time"

Justina Machado, Isabella Gomez, Rita Moreno and Marcel Ruiz star in "One Day at a Time"

Like the original series of the same name that aired from 1975 to 1984, this Emmy-nominated, family-friendly show tackles a lot of tough subject matter in a heart-warming and inspiring way. The original shed light on the hardships of being a single mother and was a real leap forward when it came to portraying real-life struggles on television. This new series follows in those footsteps admirably, tackling issues such as PTSD, alcoholism, domestic abuse, single parenthood, religion, sexuality and so much more, while also highlighting specific issues that affect the Hispanic-American community. Justina Machado ("Jane the Virgin") stars as Penelope Alvarez, a Cuban-American woman who has just retired from the United States Army Nurse Corps. Though she struggles with some issues she amassed during her tours of service and has some trouble settling into civilian life, she has a family that loves and supports her, and they help her take things — you guessed it — one day at a time. Rita Moreno ("Oz") plays Lydia, Penelope's mother, who escaped from Fidel Castro's Cuba as a teenager, and Penelope's children are played by Isabella Gomez ("Matador") and Marcel Ruiz ("Snowfall"). It's a real ensemble comedy, and you'll find yourself laughing even as your favorite characters struggle with life's twists and turns. Season 3 premieres Friday, Feb. 8, and if you're not caught up yet, you can stream the first two seasons now.

NEW ON AMAZON PRIME:

"Four More Shots Please!"

Amazon Prime gives us a look at life in Mumbai, the Indian city that never sleeps, in this fresh new series. Four very different women come together each week at their favorite bar to catch up, let lose and get extraordinarily drunk. It's a story of struggle and friendship, but more than anything, it's a tale of sisterhood — a sort of "Sex and the City" set in India, with all the added social implications that accompany the cultural shift. Maanvi Gagroo ("The Good Vibes"), Sayani Gupta ("Kaushiki"), Gurbani ("I Can Do That!") and Kirti Kulhari ("San' 75," 2018) star as Siddhi, Damini, Umang and Anjana, respectively, four best friends weathering life's ups and downs together. The series is streaming now.

Sweet and savory decadence

Food Network goes all-in on chocolate for Valentine's Day weekend

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Raise your hand if you love chocolate! Sweet and creamy and oh-so-delicious milk chocolate is definitely the most popular type here in North America, but that's really just one of the countless ways that the tasty treat can be enjoyed. With Valentine's Day almost upon us, Food Network has devoted the entire weekend of Feb. 9 and 10 to the stuff, with Guy Fieri, Giada De Laurentiis and several other hosts all devoting entire episodes of their shows to chocolate.

Chocolate and Valentine's Day may go hand in hand, but heart-shaped boxes filled with truffles are just the beginning. Ree Drummond kicks off the weekend with a new episode of "The Pioneer Woman" on Saturday, Feb. 9. First, she makes Mississippi mud cake in all its chocolatey glory, along with some white chocolate macadamia nut cookies. Then, she shares her secrets to making a simple but delicious chocolate tart and whips up a chocolate fridge roll.

Later on Saturday, Fieri invites some friends over to show off just how versatile an ingredient chocolate can be in "Guy's Ranch Kitchen." First on the menu is a pair of dishes made by chef Aarti Sequeira: whipped goat cheese with cacao nibs on crostini with fresh figs, along with a cauliflower chaat salad with chocolate chutney. Meanwhile, chef Rocco DiSpirito proves that chocolate is just as much a savory ingredient as it is a sweet one with his spicy chocolate pork and beans served with chocolate monkey bread.

The chocolate festivities continue the next day, with Molly Yeh celebrating both her husband's and father-in-law's birthdays in "Girl Meets Farm." Her husband's father, Roger, is a huge chocoholic, so she makes him a decadent dessert to top off an amazing meal: a chocolate tahini cake with tahini frosting. Then, Giada helps her daughter host a Valentine's Day party for her friends in "Giada Entertains." She whips up a collection of elegant-but-kid-friendly dishes that includes cheesy chocolate ravioli, chocolate strawberry cups and sweet double-chocolate bark. Yum!

There's just so much that can be done with chocolate, and what better time of the year than Valentine's Day is there to experiment? Chocolate lovers won't want to miss this upcoming weekend on Food Network.

Guy Fieri, Alex Guarnaschelli and Marc Murphy in "Guy's Ranch Kitchen"

Q: I just finished watching the fifth season of "Longmire" and I'm wondering if there are going to be any more episodes.

A: For you, yes, but not many.

The good news, strangely, is that you're behind. The sixth season of "Longmire" has been available on Netflix since November 2017 (Netflix generally posts its shows one full season at a time).

The bad news is that six is it. The streaming service announced in advance of the new release that it would be the "final chapter" of the western drama.

That in itself is another good-news, bad-news situation. Planning the end in advance means the show can offer some closure at the end, which is something fans nearly missed out on when the show was first canceled after Season 3. Back then, A&E's cancellation of "Longmire" came as a surprise to the writers as much as to the fans. Netflix's revival of the show let the story continue, and its advance cancellation notice allowed the writers to wrap things up.

Q: Is John Cleese still acting?

A: John Cleese is doing, basically, whatever he wants. Fortunately for us all, that still includes acting.

Cleese is still best remembered as the shoutiest member of the Monty Python troupe, though of course he's had loads of other successes since (the "Fawlty Towers" series and 1988's "A Fish Called Wanda," to give just two examples).

These days, he's doing bit roles in projects he's interested in for some reason or other.

For example, he has a major role in the upcoming indie animated film "Arctic Justice," which has a star-studded cast and a pretty timely moral, making it more interesting than the average project. He voices a villainous walrus planning to melt the polar ice caps.

Indeed, he's been doing a lot of voice work lately, including two films last year alone — "Elliot the Littlest Reindeer" and "Charming" (in which he voiced the fairy godmother, obviously).

I heard that the Academy Awards are planning to move forward without a host. It sounds crazy until you remember that America has been moving forward without a government.

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

The shutdown is bad news for fans of food, because the FDA has halted routine food inspections, so food companies are going to have to start adjusting their advertising. Now Kix cereal is just going to say, "Kid tested ...."
